- Location: Thane, Maharashtra
- Target Population: 80 children from a local support school
- Partner: Vimal Rangnekar
- Activities: The workshop included various art and craft activities like painting, drawing, clay modeling, origami etc.

Partnership:

The collaboration with Vimal Rangnekar was crucial for the event's success. Their contribution likely included:

- Expertise and guidance: Vimal Rangnekar 's knowledge and experience in art and craft education played a significant role in designing and conducting engaging activities for the children.
- Resource mobilization: Vimal Rangnekar have contributed to securing necessary materials, supplies, or space for the workshop.

Impact:

The art and craft workshop aimed to:

- Spark creativity and imagination: Engaging in creative activities can foster imagination, problem-solving skills, and self-expression in children.
- Provide a platform for self-discovery: Exploring art and craft materials allows children to discover their unique talents and interests.
- Offer a fun and engaging learning experience: The workshop aimed to create a stimulating and enjoyable environment for the children to learn and connect with each other.

FUTURE CONSIDERATIONS:

- Variety in activities: Including diverse art forms or themes in future workshops can cater to a wider range of interests and learning styles among the children.
- Exhibition or presentation: Organizing a platform for children to showcase their creations can boost their confidence and sense of accomplishment.
- Sustainability: Exploring ways to hold similar workshops regularly, either through independent initiatives or continued collaboration with the individual or other organizations, can provide ongoing creative outlets for the children.

Conclusion:

The art and craft workshop offered a valuable opportunity for children from the support school to engage in creative exploration and self-expression. By collaborating with passionate individuals and exploring avenues for sustainability, such workshops can continue to nurture the creativity and well-being of these children.
